

GI Weekly Newsletter

NOVEMBER 24, 2018

UK Looks to Hydrogen as a Source of Green Energy

Nervous Investors Await China-US Talks at G20 Summit

S&P Platts sees Cautious Rise in Oil Prices Going into 2019

S&P Global
Platts

Libya Returns to Play Role in World Oil Supply Dynamics

REPORT OF THE MONTH

Engie Transforms to Drive Energy Transition

GI

ENERGY THINGS TO THINK ABOUT...

UAE, Jordan Sign $100 Million Deal to Fund SMEs

Trump Thanks Saudi Arabia for Slump in Oil Prices

IN NUMBERS

TOP 3 TWEETS THIS WEEK

Platts Shipping @plattsshipping · 17h

As 2020 and the IMO's tighter sulfur cap enforcement loom, physical suppliers are questioning the availability of high sulfur #fueloil at primary #bunkerfuel hubs and smaller ports | #PlattsIMO2020

Gulf Intelligence @gulf_intel · Nov 20

#Oil traded near $57 a barrel following six weeks of losses as Russia held off committing to further output curbs, opening up a gap with #SaudiArabia which has called for supply cuts bit.ly/2A5r5Kd #OOTT

Gulf Intelligence @gulf_intel · Nov 18

#Oil rises on expected OPEC cut, but markets remain wary via @CNBC cnbc.com/2018/11/19/oil... #OPEC

