

RICHARD REDOGLIA

CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER, MATRIX GLOBAL HOLDINGS

An expert in understanding the relationship between derivative risk products and their application to the physical market, Mr. Redoglia brings more than 35 years of financial product and new technologies development to Matrix Global. Beginning his energy career in 1980 as an analyst in the Refining and Marketing Group at Tosco Corporation, Mr. Redoglia progressed to an energy specialist with the London-based broker-dealer Agra, Gill & Duffus. In 1985, he started his 17-year tenure as a senior vice president with Merrill Lynch, the industry leader as measured by cleared contracts on NYMEX futures and options. Merrill Lynch operations sold to ABN AMRO in July 2000, and Mr. Redoglia worked as co-managing director in charge of reorganizing London operations. This career track placed him at the inception of every major energy contract developed, going back to NYMEX WTI, IPE Brent and the abandoned LLS CBOT contract. This experience enabled him to participate in how the industry dealt with these new risk products and discuss their utilization as a means to manage risk. For the past 11 years, Mr. Redoglia has served as a director with Global Energy Horizons to assist energy and natural resource companies with commercializing new technologies. He holds a B.A. in business economics from the University of California, Santa Barbara.
