

JORGE MONTEPEQUE

FORMER PRESIDENT, GENERAL INDEX

Until 2015, Jorge was the Global Director, Methodologies and Markets for Platts. He is best known as the designer and builder of the Platts methodologies and assessment processes that underpin the global trading of oil, refined products and many other commodities. He led Platts through a stellar period of growth and launched novel market systems establishing Singapore as the core pricing system for Asia and the Middle East. He was also the architect of the Platts Windows and created the contractual basis used by exchanges as roots for futures and derivative contracts. He has engaged in market reviews and recommendations to National Oil Companies, government related entities and the private sector. He provided strategic asset reviews and analysis to the Private Equity and banking sector. He has also supported consultants in niche market areas where highly specialized knowledge and understating is required.
