

SEAN EVERS

MANAGING PARTNER, GULF INTELLIGENCE

In 2009, Sean became Founder and Managing Partner of Gulf Intelligence, which over the last 8 years has established itself as the leading strategic communications advisory firm servicing the Middle East energy sector.

Sean enjoyed 20 years' as an international print & broadcast journalist with some of the world's most respected media companies, including The Financial Times, the BBC and Bloomberg, which gave him a deep understanding of the Middle East, its place in the world, the region's economic posture and its crucial energy industry.

Sean has had the privilege to interview some of the Middle East's most influential leaders in politics and business over the last two decades, including Saudi Arabia's Ali al Naimi and all the Energy ministers of the GCC States, Iraq and Iran, Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, Lebanon's Prime Minister Rafiq Hariri, the President of Iran Mohammad Khatami and Saudi Billionaire Prince Alwaleed Bin Talal.

Mr. Evers attained a BA in International Relations & Economics from the University of Notre Dame in Indiana, and went on to secure his law degree at the National University of Ireland, Galway. Sean has spent his career building ground-breaking media enterprises, starting with the award winning Punchbag Productions across Britain and Ireland, securing top award at the 1992 Edinburgh Festival.

In 1997 Sean was headhunted by Bloomberg to build the U.S. media company's Middle East network from Cairo to Tehran, culminating in 2008 in Dubai being designated as the firm's fourth global hub.

He tweets @sean_evers